Date: 3 Dec 2010

Oman Air, the National Carrier of the Sultanate of Oman, commenced on December 3 a new service from Oman's capital of Muscat to Milan, Italy's world-renowned capital of culture, fashion and design.

Milan is the 41st destination to benefit from Oman Air's world-class hospitality and the new route is the ninth to be unveiled this year.

The launch is being celebrated with cake-cutting ceremonies in Milan Malpensa Airport, and attended by high-ranking airport officials and senior representatives of Oman Air.

The airline is offering four flights a week aboard its internationally-acclaimed Airbus A330 aircraft, which offer comfort and luxury in every class. Each Business Class seat has direct aisle access and converts into an extra-long fully lie-flat bed.
